

I think it's fine that you haven't pushed I think it would be actually quite a good idea for us to make up Garvis report about that like I we could record something right now and now that you are also here it would recorder sound and we could actually plug this into your garbage report and we could save this is a report generated from our meeting preparing this presentation so we also wanted to say what we want someone to analyze how formally we communicate it was that would that be good do you think and I guess sewing using that for our presentation using our tool which is supposed to help us do the presentation it's a lot of presentation presentation words but it should make sense on some level look at the a lot of filler words and a lot of I don't know just just just long and general and stuff the free-flowing conversation so I think the occurrence of filler words is probably higher so it will be interesting to see what the occurrences would be that we used to improve our own formal communication during our meetings about corvus and on the website of its and literally analyze any video in the internet so I mean I did Annalise actually I could show you the video I tried to analyze maybe after this recording is done different variety of scenarios but our own practice analyzing analyzing our own drugs professionally attract and we've gotten some pretty interesting incisal actually helped us refine our own speaking and an end at least be more aware of what was thinking about okay so we could try this we could try anything really I don't particularly mind which report you show as long as we can
