

okay yeah I'm also doing audio recorder pie for this audio witches as prepping the presentation I'm already I already am kind of aware of which keyword tool have okay I knew myself and I always see my screen and interrupt me when you think that there's something that needs your attention so now I am speaking about the topic so we have options for life feedback and for asynchronous feedback Li feedback and post session feedback so that is big big let's make this big big let's make this big big asynchronous and post session feedback so you're also we have both sessions back only and we have two kinds of things personal practice this is for personal practice personal practice and then we will have personal practice as well as wait hold on let me do this for personal practice here and personal practice as well as analyzing others so I don't think that this should be a port is the corvus report and excitement mode fun mode presentation generation mood and this can be a whatever kind of thing and bonus feature we were able to add a bonus features a Corvette and here we will have I don't know what this should say engendra presentation generation mode and this is possession feedback this is lipid different it doesn't quite give you feedback but it it's for personal practice and inspiration and inspiration inspiration from others inspiration from others and learning from others so okay now we're going to do this I love it I love it okay I love it actually I really do like what we have in front of us can I say something I came up with a nice diagram if you want to see so and this diagram can be the guiding diagram behind our demos I don't know please give as much feedback as possible so we have gays mood I can make this a little bit smaller if you want this to you know if you wanted to be clear that this is a bonus teacher but we have so this is what will be highlighted before we show the demo about the internet if we can have if you can actually between seventh and generated quick PDF of like another person's Oscar Talk video that we can quickly scroll through that in like 10 seconds to show that this is a transcript that's been generated from another person I can be from that can be for the learning from others teacher and then we can show that bonus feature is both for your well I don't know I'm trying to have like the kind of feedback you get obviously the bonus feature presentation who doesn't give you any kind of feedback but I'm trying to highlight for each feature what the purpose if it isn't yours purposes personal practice but also learning from others because the purpose of analyzing other people's published dogs on the Internet is to learn from what they do well and what they might not do so well and so the presentation mode is kind of an do you want me to not have any of these boxes of presentational it since it's so different something for like learning Limitless playing because you can use like any video in the internet or something like that or something like that
